News

- AstraZeneca and Oxford University might launch a new trial to evaluate a lower dose of its vaccine that showed higher efficacy than a full dose. AstraZeneca and Oxford University acknowledged that a manufacturing error was the reason for the lower dose and the higher efficacy was discovered by accident. The vaccine's efficacy jumped from 62% to 90% when an initial half-dose followed by a full dose was given to a sub-group of trial participants, but the group was small and consisted only of people aged 55 and under.
- Selected flights from Atlanta to Rome will become the first quarantine-free route linking the United States and Europe since travel restrictions were implemented. Travelers will be exempt from quarantine if they test negative for Covid-19 three times, in a PCR test 72 hours before departure, a rapid test before boarding as well as another rapid test upon arrival. Restrictions on entry into Italy and the EU for US residents remain in place, and entry will be allowed only for essential reasons.
