News

- To ensure safe games and avoid an outright cancellation, Japan seems to be considering options to scale back the Olympic Games now set to be held next summer. Options include having fewer spectators, mandatory testing for staff, athletes and spectators, and a scaling back of the opening and closing ceremonies.
- New Zealand has not reported any new cases in almost two weeks and has only 1 active case remaining. The country might lift all remaining restrictions—other than border controls and public hygiene measures—by next week.
