The PP also allows the government to provide loan interest subsidies for MSMEs using state funds. The program is an expansion of the incentives in the stimulus packages issued in February and March 2020, with an additional amount of IDR 152 trillion (or about 0.9 percent of GDP) allocated to State capital injections into SOEs, as well as accelerated compensation payments to electricity firm PLN and energy firm Pertamina.</li> </ul> | •                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | •                                                                                                     |

| July 7  | <ul> <li>Announced a burden sharing agreement in which Bank Indonesia (BI) will support the financing of fiscal packages and share the interest costs with the Ministry of Finance. Most notably, a one-off issuance of bonds worth of IDR 398 trillion (2.5 percent of GDP) will be privately placed at BI and the funds will be used to finance COVID-19 related healthcare spending, social assistance, and sectoral and regional support. The bonds will carry a coupon equal to the three-month reverse repo rates; BI, meanwhile, will fully absorb the interest cost for the government. For the remaining financing needs raised via the normal market (auction) mechanism, BI will be the buyer as a last resort with maximum purchase threshold of 25 percent for conventional bond auctions. BI, meanwhile, will share part of the interest costs of those bonds related to the packages that support MSMEs and other corporates (of up to IDR 177 trillion in total).</li> </ul> |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |                |                                                                                                                                                                                               |

| Implemented conditional MCO (CMCO) from May 4, 2020 (to May 12). Almost all economic sectors will be allowed to open with conditions beginning May 4. Under the CMCO, some businesses will be allowed to operate fully, although employers are requested to implement flexible working hours and encourage working from home. Schools will remain closed and interstate travel will still be barred except for work purposes. Mass social, cultural and religious gatherings as well as outdoor sports activities that involve body contact are still banned (running, cycling, golf are now allowed). All Malaysians are urged to wear face marks and carry hand sanitizers when going out. |

Thegovernment had previously approved THB18 billion hotel and THB 2 billion air ticketsubsidies for domestic tourism, and onlyabout half of that may have been used inthe first phase as domestic travellerseconomize on their own budgets.
